COUNTY ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce
JAMES F. WINN
as a candidate for the democratic nomination for County Collector subject to the action of the voters at the August primary.

High School Notes.

It is a source of regret to the teachers and students of the High School that there is so little visiting done by the patrons of Lexington. There are interesting assemblies each Tuesday and Thursday morning from nine to nine-twenty; the Literary Societies give programs frequently, and the daily work of the class room is always open for inspection. Don't form your opinions entirely from the monthly report cards, but come over for the high school wants you.

Last winter the high school received a gift of a set of carpenter's tools, benches, circular saws and mortising machine, as a start toward the introduction of manual training. These tools were given by the family of the late Thomas J. Bandon, as it seemed an especially fitting way to dispose of his workshop in view of his many years of faithful service on the Board of Education.

With the limited number of teachers, it has of course been impossible to introduce formal class work in manual training, but the tools have been utilized by the students of the science classes under the direction of Mr. Wade in making many needed pieces of apparatus for the laboratory.

This then, is the start; next year it is hoped that the addition of more tools and benches will make possible a further extension of this manual work, so that the double service will be rendered of supplying the school (at the cost of material only) with needed book cases, apparatus, etc., and of giving the students such hand training that they will be at least "handy with tools."

A number of the teachers and some of the seniors class went to Higginsville Saturday to attend the teachers' examinations.

The teachers report a pleasant trip to Kansas City last Friday and the pupils report a grand holiday.

As the end of the school year can be dimly seen in the distance, the students are putting in their best licks trying to finish up strong.

The base ball material of the high school has been a little slow in making its appearance. The first game which was to have been played with Wentworth was cancelled. The team will probably be picked by March 30th.

Candidate for Collector.

In another column will be found the formal announcement of James F. Winn of this city as a candidate for the nomination of county collector. Mr. Winn was born in Dover township and for a number of years, previous to his moving to Lexington he was engaged in the mercantile business in Dover. He moved to Lexington about eight years ago and engaged in business until last fall when he sold out and has since been traveling. Mr. Winn is a "bred in the bone" democrat. A gentleman of an attractive personality and a hustler. He is in every way qualified to discharge the duties of the office which he seeks.

Post Office.

Wilson Bros. of this city, are recently in receipt of a letter from Hon. C. W. Hamlin, member of Congress from this district in which he gives the following information in regard to the Post Office building for Lexington.

"I went down to the Treasury Department today to see the Chief Architect about your Government Building; that is to ascertain if possible about when they would go to work on it. He informed me that the Lexington building was No. 67 on their working list and now they were on No. 55. He said he thought they would reach it about the latter part of August next. I send you this information thinking that the people of Lexington and surrounding community might be interested in the matter."

Rev. G. M. Gibson went to Fayette, Mo., Monday to preach the funeral sermon of Dr. Carr Pritchett who died near Independence last Saturday night.

Are Drugs Necessary? Do Drugs Cure Disease? Can Nature be Assisted?

If people were born right and afterwards lived right, there would be no need for medicine. Every doctor knows this. So do other well-informed people.

One thing more. When a person lives wrongly, or acquires bodily weakness by heredity, medicine can do only very little. Medicine cannot cure him. Only charlatans claim that medicines will cure disease. Medicines may palliate symptoms. Medicines may urge the powers of Nature to resist disease. Medicines sometimes arouse the efforts of the human body to right itself against derangements. This is the most that medicine can do.

A man accidentally puts his finger in the fire. Instinctively he wets his finger in his mouth, then blows on it for the cooling effect. This is no cure. He knows it very well. But it makes it feel better for the time being.

People eat unwisely. This produces dyspepsia or indigestion. The only rational cure is to eat correctly. Yet if a palliative is at hand the pains of indigestion can be mitigated, the throes of dyspepsia assuaged. The medicine cannot be said to have cured. It simply palliates disagreeable symptoms. The cure must come through right living.

Take Peruna, for instance. No one claims Peruna is a cure for dyspepsia. But Peruna will stimulate the stomach to perform its function properly. Peruna will increase the flow of digestive fluids, without which digestion cannot be carried on at all. It will increase the relish of food, the appetite.

It is admitted that all this can be accomplished by right living, but there are so many people who either will not or do not know how to eat correctly that a tremendous amount of good can be done by the wise use of Peruna.

A stomach that has been frequently abused performs the function of digestion very lastly. Such a stomach allows the food to remain undigested for some time after it is swallowed. This leads to fermentation of the food. Sour stomach is the result. This goes on week after week, until the blood is poisoned with the products of fermentation. This condition is very apt to produce rheumatism.

It is not claimed that Peruna will cure rheumatism. Nothing will cure rheumatism but correct living. But it is claimed that Peruna will assist a badly abused stomach to perform its work.

If a person would correct his habits, persist in right eating and temperate ways, undoubtedly the stomach would right itself, the blood would rid itself of the poison, and everything would be right. But as said before there are a multitude of people who will not or cannot adopt right methods of living. To such people Peruna is a boon. A dose before meals will assist the stomach to do its work. This prevents fermentation of the food, brings about normal digestion, and all the train of ills that follow indigestion disappear.

In other words, Peruna is helpful to those who live badly, or those who have acquired some chronic weakness. Peruna does not cure, but it assists the powers of Nature to bring about a cure.

The whip does not increase the power of the horse to pull a load, but judiciously used it stimulates the horse to use his powers at the right time, without which he could not have pulled the load.

This illustrates the effect of Peruna, or any other good remedy upon the system. Taken at the right time, it calls forth the powers of the human system to meet the encroachments of disease, and thus cuts short, if not entirely ends, the diseased action.

No one should ever attempt to substitute medicine in the place of right living. In the end such an attempt will prove a disaster. But an occasional use of the right medicine at the right time is a godsend, and no reasonable person will undertake to deny it.

Those who know how to use Peruna find it of untold value. By and by the world will get wise enough so that through correct living no medicine at all will be needed. But that time has not arrived. In the meantime, while the world is approaching that perfection in which all medicine will be eliminated, Peruna is a handy remedy to have in the house.

Slight derangements of the stomach; slight catarrhal attacks of the liver, the throat, bronchial tubes, lungs or bowels; these attacks are sure to lead to grave diseases, and can be averted by the judicious use of Peruna.

Wouldn't you like to read a few unsolicited testimonials from people who have used Peruna, and who stand ready to confirm the above statements concerning it. If so, address the Peruna Drug Manufacturing Co., Columbus, Ohio, and we will send some prepaid.
